geographers. Careful analysis and arrangement of the content of the subject is as greatly needed as the exploration of unknown lands. It must be remembered, however, that the object of analysis and classification is to render practical aid in the understanding of geographical items, old and new. There should be no hindrance placed in the way of the active pathfinders who seek to enter unknown lands; but there should be every encouragement given to those who believe that some of the unknown elements of geography may be discovered without going far from home.
